GridFlow Launch Checklist

The shortest safe path from a new account to a reviewed sponsor workflow.

GRIDFLOW STANDARD

Use this beside the interactive GridFlow Academy. Tick the practical checks as you complete them; never record passwords, verification codes or private provider keys in this document.

Before you begin

Have your racing programme facts, target geography, preferred industries, rough partnership range, LinkedIn public URL and - if your plan asks for it - a Gemini API key ready. Do not collect secrets in notes or screenshots.

01

Complete the system introduction

Review what GridFlow prepares and what remains under human control.

- ☐ LinkedIn remains user-performed.
- ☐ Messages and commercial commitments follow approval gates.

02

Calibrate the athlete profile

Add programme, series, countries, goals, achievements, differentiators and audience context.

- ☐ All results are accurate.
- ☐ Target countries reflect realistic access.

03

Finish LinkedIn

Create or audit the full profile using the LinkedIn Profile Playbook, paste the public URL and confirm all eight foundations.

- ☐ Headline and About copied into LinkedIn.
- ☐ Featured evidence opens.
- ☐ Two-factor authentication enabled.

04

Set target strategy

Choose preferred and excluded industries, sponsor countries and an honest useful partnership range.

- ☐ No prohibited or unsuitable sectors.
- ☐ Range matches the programme's current value.

05

Confirm operating controls

Keep LinkedIn-first, draft-only email and approval for every message until you have evidence to change them.

- ☐ Timezone correct.
- ☐ Daily cap deliberate.
- ☐ Provider connection verified if required.

06

Take the Academy tutorial

Follow LinkedIn, QuickFind and the full company-to-renewal walkthrough. Open each workspace from the lesson.

- ☐ You can explain Atlas, Sage, Relay and Echo.
- ☐ You know where failures and approvals appear.

07

Activate one Discovery Brief

Start narrow: one region, a few industries and a modest company count. Run the full pipeline once.

- ☐ Brief is active.
- ☐ Search theme is specific.
- ☐ Run appears in Research Runs.

08

Review company evidence

Open a researched company and check sources, dates, fit score and partnership angle.

- ☐ Weak claims removed.
- ☐ Domain and identity correct.
- ☐ Decision-maker search status understood.

09

Test QuickFind

Search the researched company by name. Confirm the result points to the same company and ranks a real stored contact.

- ☐ Verification label visible.
- ☐ Unknown values stay unknown.
- ☐ No cross-organisation result.

10

Prepare - but do not blindly send - outreach

Open the recommended contact and Echo draft. Check every claim, relevance, tone and call to action.

- ☐ LinkedIn profile is the correct person.
- ☐ Note is brief and personal.
- ☐ You perform the LinkedIn action yourself.

Launch-ready evidence

GridFlow is ready for normal use when the setup checklist is complete, a real pipeline run succeeds, company evidence has been reviewed, QuickFind returns the expected stored contact and a human has reviewed the first outreach draft. Production launch still requires the separate Launch Control acceptance evidence and legal review marked in the application.

- ☐ Profile complete
- ☐ LinkedIn complete
- ☐ Provider ready
- ☐ Brief active
- ☐ Pipeline succeeded
- ☐ Company reviewed
- ☐ QuickFind checked
- ☐ Outreach draft reviewed
